General Information

Info Source: Sources of Federal Government and Employee Information provides information about the functions, programs, activities and related information holdings of government institutions subject to the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act. It also provides employees of the government (current and former) and other individuals with relevant information to access personal information about themselves held by government institutions subject to the Privacy Act and to exercise their rights under the Privacy Act.

The Introduction to Info Source: Sources of Federal Government and Employee Information and an index of institutions subject to the Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act are available on the Government of Canada website.

The Access to Information Act and the Privacy Act assign overall responsibility to the President of the Treasury Board (as the designated Minister) for the government-wide administration of the legislation.

Background

The Canadian Human Rights Commission (the Commission) was given its mandate with the passage in July 1977 of the Canadian Human Rights Act. The Act became operative on March 1, 1978. The Commission’s founding legislation inspires a vision for Canada in which “all individuals should have an opportunity equal with other individuals to make for themselves the lives that they are able and wish to have” free from discrimination. The Commission reports to Parliament through the Minister of Justice.

Responsibilities

The Commission leads the administration of the Canadian Human Rights Act (the CHRA) and monitors compliance with the Employment Equity Act (the EEA).

- Vision
- About the Commission
- Our Mandate

Please refer to the Commission’s Departmental Plan and its Departmental Results Report for more information on specific plans and priorities.
Institutional Functions, Programs and Activities

Human Rights Program

This Program helps people and federally-regulated organizations understand and comply with the Canadian Human Rights Act and the Employment Equity Act. It is in compliance with the Paris Principles, a set of international standards which frame and guide the work of national human rights institutions. The Program promotes and protects human rights by developing and sharing knowledge, conducting audits, and provides access to human rights justice by processing complaints. It works collaboratively with people and organizations to conduct research, develop tools and policies, and raise awareness. It audits federally-regulated employers to ensure that they are providing equal opportunities to the four designated groups: women, Aboriginal peoples, persons with disabilities, and members of visible minorities. It screens, investigates and resolves human rights complaints, and decides whether they should go to a full legal hearing. It represents the public interest in legal cases to advance human rights in Canada.

Engagement and Advocacy

This core responsibility of the Commission includes providing a credible national voice for equality in Canada represented by the statement, “My Canada includes everyone”; promoting human rights in Canada by raising public awareness of human rights issues; and engaging civil society, governments, employers and the public in dialogue and action to advance human rights.

Classes of Personal Information
Classes of personal Information describe personal information that is not used for administrative purposes or is not intended to be retrievable by personal identifiers, for example, unsolicited opinions, correspondence, etc. This category is included to ensure that institutions account for all personal information they hold.

Complaints Dispute Resolution
Personal Information may be accumulated in the course of dealing with dispute resolution matters not related to specific cases of allegations of discrimination in employment. Such personal information may include an individual’s name, location, employment data, views or opinions of the individual or about the individual, etc. This personal information is not kept using the name of individuals or other personal identifiers. It is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning research related to the duties and responsibilities of the Commission. The retention periods for this class of personal information are controlled by the retention schedules of the files in which they are stored.
Employment Equity Audits
Personal Information may be accumulated in the course of conducting audit activities. Such personal information may include an individual’s race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, age, sexual orientation or marital status, views or opinions of another individual about the individual, etc. This personal information is not kept using the name of individuals or other personal identifiers. It is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning research related to the duties and responsibilities of the Commission. The retention periods for this class of personal information are controlled by the retention schedules of the files in which they are stored.

Human Rights Awareness
Personal Information may be accumulated in the course of conducting prevention and research activities in matters dealing with human rights. Such personal information may include an individual’s race, national or ethnic origin, colour, religion, age, sex, sexual orientation gender identity or expression, marital status, family status, genetic discrimination, disability, and conviction for an offence for which a pardon has been granted or in respect of which a record suspension has been ordered, views or opinions of another individual about the individual, etc. This personal information is not kept using the name of individuals or other personal identifiers. It is normally retrievable only if specifics are provided concerning research related to the duties and responsibilities of the Commission. The retention periods for this class of personal information are controlled by the retention schedules of the files in which they are stored.
